I think my designs are clean and simple and easy on the eyes without it being a complete dark mode. One thing I don't like about how the "Top All Time" page looks is that the list of books is extremely cramped. I couldn't get Miro to include spaces between the entries without starting the list at 1 again. Ideally there would be an extra line between the book entries. I tried to keep the application on one page without any scrolling but perhaps this would help with the "fullness" of my page.

For the cart page, I think it has the opposite feeling because now it feels very empty. I think this is partly because I didn't put more than one book in the cart and maybe this would help to fill out the space. In general this page feels very empty and I'm not quite sure what to add that would make sense.
